What is key to your role at RUAG?

Getting it right! Training goals are a priority for our customers. Our team creates a specific S&T system to match these goals.

What do you enjoy the most about your role at RUAG?

Knowing we're helping to save lives. I work with artists in their fields. Together we custom-design highly realistic systems.

What challenges you most?

Balancing customer needs and training goals with budget guidelines to achieve the optimal solution.

How do you meet the challenge?

We use our creativity. Our customers trust us and we take this to heart.

Why did you become interested in S&T?

I loved to create my own war games on paper as a child. My passion for what S&T can achieve grew from there. I put theory into practice in my military career and now at RUAG. I'm an enthusiast for life.
