

Login

Search

TRAINING

Ravenswood to support British Army training in Kenya

4th March 2020 - 13:00 GMT | by The Shephard News Team

RS
S

SAVE THIS FOR LATER

PIN THIS ARTICLE

Ravenswood has been awarded a £31.6 million ($40.4 million) contract by the UK Ministry of Defence (MoD) to provide tactical engagement simulation to the British Army in Kenya.

The five-year deal runs from 1 September 2020 to 31 August 2025, with two optional 12-month extensions.

Ravenswood will work alongside partners RUAG, Agility and QinetiQ to provide instrumentation, weapon simulators, battlefield effects and instrumented after-action reviews.

RUAG's laser-based Gladiator simulation software will form part of the solutions for the Tactical Engagement Simulation in Kenya (TESIK) requirement.

TESIK is Ravenswood's first major MoD contract. Company CEO Dan Donoghue said: 'We look forward to helping the MoD achieve their desired training outcomes.'

BACK TO NEWS

SHARE TO

FACEBOOK

TWITTER

LINKEDIN

MORE FROM TRAINING

PREMIUM: Varjo mixes it up

Finnish company Varjo, a provider of industrial-grade VR/extended-reality (XR) headsets, has introduced real-time chroma keying and object tracking for its XR-1 Developer Edition headset. Chroma ...
