

SIMULATION & TRAINING

Featuring Tech Leaders

Sharing an enduring quest for authenticity

What do you share in your role at RUAG?

I love making our customers' expectations real for them. I am all about sharing the "Wow Factor".

What challenges you most in your work?

Forging the way for new technology innovations to keep trainings agile, realistic, and unique.

How do you meet the challenge?

Providing our customers with an on-site demo training is like real-time brainstorming, made even better.

What made you want to work in simulation & training?

Authenticity and a positive impact are important to me. I can apply my military perspective and build solid relationships. Mutual understanding helps me create real solutions.

Mario Stanco, Product Manager, RUAG Simulation & Training

S&T mission: Turning ideas and trends into intuitive learning devices

Hobbies: Outdoor sports; Pursuing new and creative projects

Talent: Visualizing strong concepts and making them real

Passion: Sharing – the outdoors with his daughter, espresso at his new café, and new ventures with everyone!

Rule to live by: Find good role models, follow their example, and make their positive principles your own.

Together
ahead. RUAG